RABBLE OF GENTILITY The Royalist Northern Horse, 1644-45 "Century of the Soldier " Series. £ 19.95 £ 5.99. The " Northern Horse " were the die-hard remnants of the Horse of Newcastle ' s Army who continued in arms after Marston Moor. The mere fact of their continued existence after the destruction of Newcastle ' s army is testament to their stubbornness, and John Barratt gives a good analysis of the reasons behind their continued existence as a fighting force.

General George Monck once described the Royalist horse as "a rabble of gentility". Modern research has largely dispelled this image of the King's cavalry. However the description seems at first sight appropriate to the body of cavalry known as the "Northern Horse". Formed from those elements of the Marquis of Newcastle's Northern Royalist Army which elected to continue to fight after the ...
