Paul is often referred to as an apostle, because he was directly taught and commissioned by a vision of Christ (Acts 9:4–9) during his journey to Damascus. The commissioning of the Twelve Apostles during the ministry of Jesus is recorded in the Synoptic Gospels.

~~Apostles — Wikipedia~~

A persecutor of the early Christians, Saint Paul was forever changed along the way to Damascus when he met Christ. He traveled all over the world, preaching and writing the Good News, which led many people to Jesus. Although he was not one of the original twelve apostles, he became known as the "thirteenth apostle."

Still St. Paul was happy to suffer and

even die for Christ.
The story of St. Paul is foundational to Christianity. It fills the greater part of the Acts of the Apostles, and his letters are read in Mass on most Sundays. Those who read St. Paul:
The Thirteenth
Apostle will have a better grasp of the story of Christianity. Anyone who reads the Apostle's life can't help but be attracted to the urgency Paul felt in giving his life to Jesus and sharing God's love with others.
